ATP MASTERS 1000
2023 SEASON

General Performance Index[®]
(GPI: General Performance Index): "It is an index that measures the performance that a tennis player has had in a given period of time." This index, not shown here, is used to build the "General Performance Index Ranking[®] or GPI Ranking[®]".

This index considers, for its calculation, a number of aspects such as the number of played matches and won, the serves, the points won with the serves, the returns, the break points (saved and won) and the tie-breaks. Once the indexes are calculated for a given period of time, the 2023 season in this case, these indexes are sorted from the highest to the lowest and a ranking is established. This ranking is the General Performance Index Ranking® or GPI Ranking®, which is used to order players by performance in the analyzed season. As already mentioned in other articles, the ATP Ranking must not necessarily coincide with the General Performance Index Ranking®, in fact, this rarely happens. This General Performance Index Ranking® is very useful because it allows analyzing and quantifying the performance of an athlete in relation to the other players over a period of time.

The best performance of the season in the ATP Masters 1000 tournaments has been achieved by the Spanish Carlos Alcaraz (ESP), number 2 in the world ranking, followed by the Russian Daniil Medvedev (RUS), completing the podium of the GPI Ranking® the other Russian Andrey Rublev (RUS).

Other players highlighted in the GPI Ranking® have been Jannik Sinner (ITA), Hubert Hurkacz (POL), Taylor Fritz (USA), Stefanos Tsitsipas (GRE), Alejandro Davidovich

Fokina (ESP), Alexander Zverev (GER) and Holger Rune (DEN) whom complete the Top 10 of the GPI Ranking®.

Note that the number one in the world ranking, Novak Djokovic (SRB), does not appear in the Top 10 of the GPI Ranking®, he is in 16th place in the aforementioned ranking. This is because Djokovic has played only 16 matches this season in this category of tournaments – ATP Masters 1000 – if we compare him to Alcaraz or Medvedev, who have played a total of 31 matches.

Below is the complete table with the Top 50 of the GPI Ranking® for the 2023 season for ATP Masters 1000 tournaments.
